

Food for Thought

Kids Feeding Kids: A service of Delta Opportunity School

The "Food for Thought" program is sponsored by students at the Delta Opportunity School, a local high school with a goal of "counting our blessings, we choose to give back." We understand that students cannot learn their best if they are hungry or worrying about food.

The program provides backpacks of non-perishable food each Friday to children who could use supplemental food for the weekend. Your child will be discretely provided a backpack of food on Friday to bring home. The following Monday your child will return the pack to school where it will be picked up and refilled by the next Friday.

There is no cost, nor any qualification to participate in this program. If you feel your child needs this assistance, please complete this form and return it to your school.
